I. University Profile

As the only regular undergraduate institution directly affiliated with the All-China Federation of Trade Unions (ACFTU) and co-established by ACFTU and the Ministry of Education (MOE), China University of Labor Relations (CULR) boasts a long history and a profound revolutionary heritage. The university is an important base for cultivating high-quality, practical, interdisciplinary and innovation-oriented talents, the highest-level institution for training of trade union cadres, and a high-end think tank in the fields of labor and trade unions in China.

CULR owns 14 schools and one department of public teaching, and offers 25 regular undergraduate programs covering 8 disciplines, including economics, education, law, literature, engineering, science, management and art. Among them, there are 7 national first-class undergraduate programs, 6 Beijing municipal first-class undergraduate programs, and 2 MOE's characteristic programs. CULR currently has one academic master's degree program and 7 professional master's degree programs.

Thanks to the support of ACFTU, CULR has hosted visits and exchanges for over 300 international trade union cadres from dozens of trade union organizations, including the Zambia Congress of Trade Unions, the All Nepal Federation of Trade Unions, the Seychelles Federation of Workers Union, the Lao Federation of Trade Union, the Nigeria Labour Congress, the Cambodian Confederation of Trade Unions, and Brazil's Unified Workers Central. In 2024, 12 teachers were dispatched in total to teach the training courses for international union cadres, training 126 international trade union cadre students.
